

Insurance can be a PAIN.

Your patients' knees
don't have to be.

SUPARTZ FX[®]
sodium hyaluronate

an ideal option for self-pay patients.

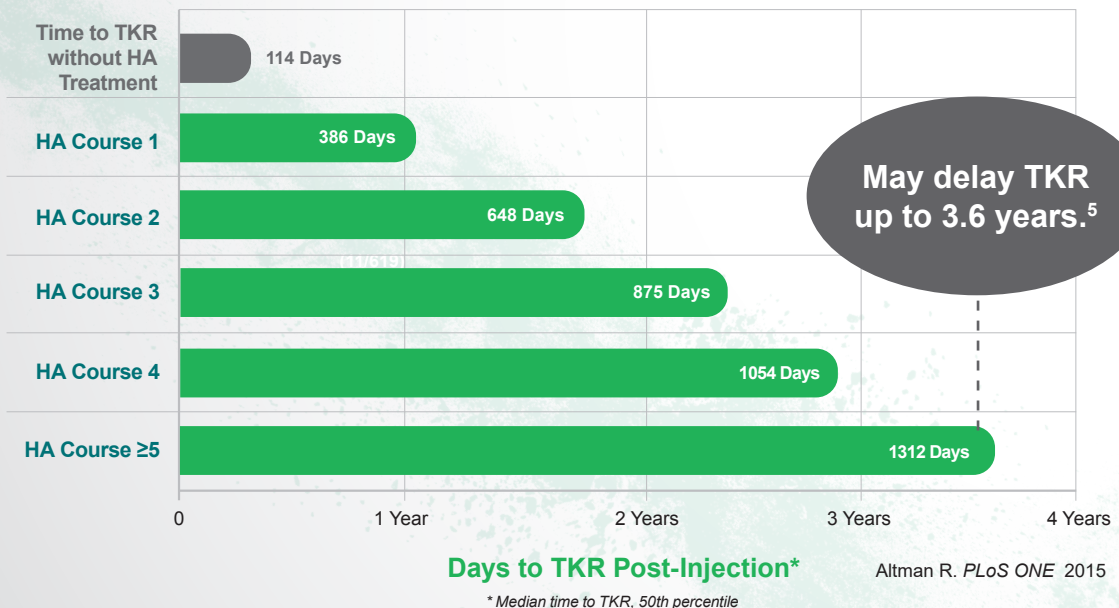

Do not let changes in insurance coverage, change how you treat your patients!

Hyaluronic acid (HA) injections provide meaningful relief of knee pain and stiffness due to mild to moderate knee osteoarthritis (OA) patients.¹

HA Injections:

- Provide up to 6 months of knee pain relief
- Have no risk of renal or other systemic complications as compared to NSAIDs or IA corticosteroid injections²
- Reduce the use of NSAIDs, steroids and opioids³
- Are safe for repeated usage
 - Repeated steroid injections can lead to cartilage damage and loss⁴
- May delay need for total knee replacement (TKR) surgery up to 3.6 years⁵

HA Injections Associated with Delay in TKR Surgery⁵

Many knee OA patients need additional therapy beyond first-line oral treatments

Give patients options for continuing trusted therapy.

If insurance coverage becomes a challenge for treating knee OA patients

Turn to SUPARTZ FX

- Proven OA knee pain relief for up to six months⁶
- Approved for 3 to 5 injections, providing flexible dosing options
